Dear Dan,

We are in receipt of a copy of your letter to Sid, number 24628 dated 21 February 1958.

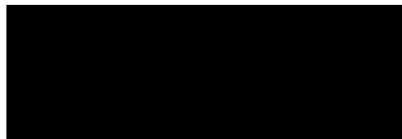

Although the contractor probably erred in shipping spares for the 3-Channel Data Reduction Equipment before obtaining approval of his Revision B Lists, we can use these items to good advantage.

Since these items were of low dollar cost I recommend that he be given contractual coverage.

With regard to the spares lists for the 14-Channel Data Reduction Equipment, we agree that lists for customers 1 and 3 should be uniform. With this in mind, any items deleted by Bob from customer 1's lists may also be deleted from ours. We would however appreciate knowing which additional items you delete and also what the Air Force stock numbers are.

Dan, in a recent conversation by telephone, Dean suggested that our recommendations concerning listings be returned directly to him. He would then submit my approval along with his cost proposal to you. Sid could be furnished copies of all proposals and recommendations by Dean. Apparently this set up is being used by Bob as a time saver and seems to be satisfactory to both people. We would appreciate your comments.

Sincerely,

25X1A
